Meet John and Jim – identical twin brothers, third-generation home builders, and the original founders of McKenzie Collection.

Between the two of them, John and Jim have more than six decades of experience in the building industry, all in central Indiana.

As they built their business together, they based their work on the belief that the relationships they develop, the communities they create, and the process they take clients through is just as important as the homes they build.

John and Jim specialize in active-adult, low-maintenance communities that feature highly customized floorplans and homes with distinct architectural styles. All of their work is characterized by a high level of construction finish and painstaking attention to detail. When you walk through a McKenzie home, you'll notice the difference.

Still today, this collection of McKenzie-exclusive communities are some of the area's finest places to call home.

- ★ LAKE STONEBRIDGE
Lake Stonebridge is a compelling, resort-style community offering breathtaking views of the shimmering lakes and the beautifully manicured Ironwood Golf course.
- ★ RAVINIA
Our first community in Zionsville, Ravinia is a quiet, secluded community in the historic corner of the city with Southern Living-inspired architecture.
- ★ SYCAMORE SPRINGS
Sycamore Springs is a unique secured and gated community with distinctive Georgian architecture in the heart of Washington Township.
- ★ THE RESERVE AT SPRING MILL
Built in 1993, The Reserve was McKenzie's first community, and it was a smashing success. Many of Indianapolis' well-known residents built with McKenzie here.

“They really got to know us and made suggestions over the course of the process that bonded us together. I’ll always be thankful for that.”
